TAKING URBAN MEDIA TO A HIGHER LEVEL-WE WILL REIGN SUPREME! 2005

What's up? Welcome to the newest publisher on the literary street. We hope to offer a certain touch of class and apposite matter to the newest genre in literature. While we aim to be as responsible and editorially correct as possible, we must also remain as true, as we know how, to the words and life of Urban America.*

*Now, with that being said, let's move on to business. If you have a book, poem or play sitting inside your head and it's ready to kick down the doorway of your mind to get out; we at the offices of DP want to hold you down baby! DP wants to take that grimy gift, street saga, urban tale or just straight up fiction with real flavor, and help you get published! We are now accepting manuscripts. Preferably typed and edited. However, we understand that some of you may not be in a position to do this, and we understand. Just let us know in the email.

We're working to help you bring words to life and make this paper, so you can take care of your family and make your mark in history. Get at us. Email DP for details, include your name, address, email, phone number and briefly describe what you want to submit.
